Elements Café now offers in-home cooking demos

Fred Kellermann, chef-owner of Elements Café in Haddon Heights, may top the guest lists of many home parties and gatherings starting this holiday season. Maybe it's his charm, but it likely has more to do with what he brings to the table. Literally.

Elements and Kellermann have launched in-home cooking demonstrations to bring the chef's affordable approach to fine dining right into area homes, complete with his instruction and guidance to making the meals.

Chef Fred's Table, as it's known, is perfect for holiday celebrations that offer a twist – the freshest ingredients, a witty education, excellent food and final cleanup are all part of the package.

Go beyond ordinary catering for your upcoming events. Treat your guests to something other than crab puffs and pigs in a blanket – give them a memorable meal that's entertaining and delicious.
